

MASS APPEAL

With a passion for people and projects, Rescom is a relationship builder where details resonate, separating a good project from a great one. This impressive and established homebuilder began their journey in commercial ventures. Applying its matchless expertise and vigour to its residential division, Rescom brings the same ingenuity, experience, and feats of engineering to its luxury home standard.

This second-look façade features a long curved driveway that reveals both aggregate and Roman paving stones that define curves and borders landscaping that embrace a hardy selection of trees and shrubs for year round enjoyment. Armourside steel defines board and batten siding, fascia, vented soffits, and custom window caps all in Sierra Brown, enhancing architectural forms alongside Indiana limestone and white stucco siding.

Continuous metal siding, Indiana limestone, and white stucco combine to create an equally stunning rear view with topless glass railings and generous windows that invite light throughout the home. PVC wood-look decking made from 90% recycled materials offers no warping, splitting, or the maintenance of wood.
